Welcome and Orientation

Welcome and thank you for your interest in serving as a member of a City of Waynesboro advisory body. City Boards and Commissions play an important role in City governance by assisting the City Council in addressing specific issues in detail, lending professional expertise, facilitating community decision-making, and serving as a primary conduit between citizens, City staff and departments, and the City Council.

The City of Waynesboro has a variety of Boards and Commissions, each with distinct responsibilities. As a new advisory body member, you should familiarize yourself with the documents governing your particular body: these may include City ordinances, City Council resolutions, advisory body bylaws, relevant element(s) of the Comprehensive Plan, and other documents, all available from your staff liaison. Review of these documents will help you get a sense of what your responsibilities are and what they are not.

This Handbook is designed to serve as a reference for the basic protocols that apply generally to all City Boards and Commissions. Orientation is necessarily an active process. As a new member you may want to meet with the Chair of your advisory body to get a better sense of your role and the business of the body. Along with familiarizing yourself with your advisory body's foundational responsibilities and goals, you may want to review agendas and minutes from recent meetings to see what current issues have been under consideration.

Learning your role and developing an effective voice takes time and familiarity. We hope this handbook will assist you towards a satisfying and productive experience. Your participation is deeply appreciated by all around you—by the City Council, by City department staff, and by your community.

Julia Bortle, Clerk of Council

Hear and decide requests to place manufactured homes as second living units on properties for no longer than One (1) year, on the basis of hardship. Authorize the operation of certain businesses as home occupations pursuant to the regulations stated by the City Council. Authorize upon appeal, in specific cases, variances from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance where, owing to special conditions, literal enforcement of the provisions of the Zoning Ordinance will result in an unnecessary hardship. Variances can be granted that uphold the spirit of the Zoning Ordinance when the Appeals Board finds:
 - a. There are extraordinary and exceptional conditions pertaining to the particular piece of property in question because of its size, shape, or topography;
 - b. The application of the Zoning Ordinance to this particular piece of property would create an unnecessary hardship;
 - c. Such conditions are peculiar to the property involved; and
 - d. Relief, if granted, would not cause substantial detriment to the public.

City Council Directed:

- Cultural Commission - The Commission coordinates the promotion and support of existing cultural activities and events in the Waynesboro area, supports the development of new cultural organizations towards the enhancement of the quality of life, and promotes a cultural tourism effort in the Waynesboro area. The Commission acts in an advisory capacity to the City Council on matters relating to cultural activities, acts as an advisory board on behalf of the City with respect to grants and financial assistance to local organizations, assists and coordinates with planning similar activities by cultural organizations represented on the commission by nonvoting members, and seeks to cooperate with all agencies, public or private, in the promotion and education of the cultural activities of the city.

City of Waynesboro

Introduction

Purpose for Boards and Commissions

Boards and Commissions play an important role in City government by assisting and advising the City Council in formulating and implementing policy. Boards and Commissions also develop recommendations and present supporting information to the City Council. Certain Boards and Commissions have the authority to make final decisions; some decisions may be appealed to the City Council.

Boards and commissions are established by ordinance, while committees and task forces are usually established by a motion or resolution to address particular projects or specific areas of concern. Task forces generally are given a defined period of time to accomplish their tasks.

How Appointments Are Made

Any City resident interested in serving on an advisory body is invited to submit an application or a letter of interest to the City Clerk. When a vacancy occurs, it is publicized on local government Channel 7 and on the City's website, www.waynesboro.va.us. However, applications and/or letters from persons interested in serving on the particular body are always accepted. Qualifying applications and letters are forwarded to the City Council for consideration.

Upon appointment, all new members are notified by mail of their appointment. Members of the Economic Development Board, Board of Zoning Appeals, and the Planning Commission are required by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to declare personal financial information and must annually file a Statement of Economic Interest with the City Clerk's office. The City Clerk provides the necessary forms, which remain on file for five (5) years.

Guidelines for Appointments

Term Limitations. Notwithstanding any other provision of the Waynesboro City Code, no member of any City board, commission, committee or similar agency for which Council has appointive authority, and whose terms of membership are not prescribed by State Statute or Act of Assembly, shall serve for more than two (2) consecutive terms. However, persons appointed to fill less than one-half of the term of a vacancy may serve two (2) additional consecutive terms.

Eligibility Requirements/Qualifications

Unless otherwise specified, applicants are required to be residents and/or qualified voters of the City of Waynesboro. Upon appointment, all new members are sworn in by the City Clerk, the Deputy City Clerk, or the Clerk of the Court.

Authorizing Documents

The City Council approves the formation, composition, and responsibilities of all Boards and Commissions. Some Boards and Commissions, such as the Planning Commission, have responsibilities under State law. All Boards and Commissions operate under Council auspices and are responsible to the Council for compliance with the Municipal Code, and the Code of Virginia.

Bylaws

Some Boards and Commission operations, procedures, and duties are established in adopted bylaws.

Membership Roster

A complete listing of all City of Waynesboro Boards and Commissions, along with the meeting days, times, and locations, is available in the City Clerk's Office and on the City's website, www.waynesboro.va.us. Membership rosters are available in the City Clerk's Department, and are public record. Please notify advisory body staff and the Clerk's Office promptly of any changes in your address or other contact information.

Meeting Times

City Boards and Commissions meet on a regular basis and are open to the public. The calling of a special meeting, or the cancellation of any regular meeting, must be coordinated between the Chair and staff, and shall be subject to legal notice under the Code of Virginia. Advisory body members must also be notified in advance of the canceling or scheduling of any meetings.

Attendance

Attendance at all regular and special called meetings is desired, with the understanding that certain events will occur that prevent perfect attendance. However, in order for the proper functioning of the City's Boards and Commissions, it is necessary for each member to be in attendance as much as possible. Attendance is also necessary to demonstrate the member's continued commitment to Board or Commission. Therefore, should an appointed member of a City Board or Commission be absent from four consecutive meetings, or whose attendance is less than 50% of the regular meetings over any 12 month period, Council may remove the appointed member and appoint a new member to fill the remaining term of the removed member.

Meetings

Preparation for Meetings

- Be prepared. Thoroughly review the agenda packet, including agenda reports, and any other materials before the meeting. The issues that come before Boards and Commissions are important to the community as a whole and demand your consistent attention. In agreeing to serve on a Board or Commission, you make a commitment to put in the time required to prepare fully for each meeting.
- Understand what action you are being called on to take regarding each particular agenda item.
- If you have questions regarding the agenda or agenda report, contact the Chair or your staff liaison before the meeting to clarify questions or request further information.
- Know the responsibilities of your Board or Commission, as well as the limitations of your individual authority. As a member of a Board or Commission you will be asked to provide recommendations to the City Council about specific issues. Keep in mind that your appointment does not empower you to supervise City staff.
- Keep an open mind. An objective, balanced, and receptive approach will help you assess the facets of a given issue, and evaluate new ideas. When receiving written and oral public testimony it will be necessary to discern between fact and opinion, as well as between those concerns which are relevant and those which are secondary to the issue at hand. Keeping an open mind will make it easier for you to understand all sides of an issue before you make a judgment or take a position.

Strive to appreciate differences in approach and point of view. Diversity of ideas sustains a thoughtful dialogue and a vibrant community. Likewise, take care to articulate your own ideas: remember that your individual voice is a critical part of the whole dialogue. Again, furthering common goals takes cooperation, flexibility, and a broad-based view of the public interest.

If you are unsure about something during the meeting, ask for clarification. On behalf of the public, your understanding of issues is important.

Rules of Debate

Every Board and Commission member shall confine comments to the question under debate, avoiding all indecorous language and references to personalities and abiding by the following rules of civil debate. A member, once recognized, shall not be interrupted except according to rules of parliamentary procedure (e.g., for a point of order, parliamentary inquiry, question of privilege, or appeal of Chair's procedural ruling).

Public meetings will proceed smoothly if all participants keep the following tenets in mind:

- (1) We may disagree, but we will be respectful of one another.

- (2) All comments will be directed to the issue at hand.
- (3) Personal attacks should be avoided.

Decorum in Meetings

- Start meetings on time. Keep the agenda in mind in order to give each item the appropriate time.
- Announce at the start of a meeting if the order of agenda items is to be rearranged for convenience, for response to those attending only for certain items, or for better pacing of the agenda.
- Let the Chair run the meeting.
- Be fair, impartial, and respectful of the public, staff, and each other. Give your full attention when others speak.
- Learn to trust your own good judgment on decisions.
- Remember that people may be attending a meeting for the first time, and may be unfamiliar with your procedures. In your discussion, either avoid or explain technical terms or verbal shorthand.
- Listen to audience concerns. Don't engage in side conversations or otherwise be distracted during public testimony. The opportunity for public testimony is central to the strength of democracy, and is therefore encouraged. Active listening, however, does not mean engaging the public in debate. Your response is appropriately saved for after the public testimony is closed.
- Close the public testimony before you begin serious deliberation on an issue.
- Sometimes questions can most effectively focus discussion and direct decision-making. For example,

For staff.

- What is the history behind this item? • What are the benefits and drawbacks?
- What other alternatives did you consider? • What do you think about this item?
- What have you heard from the residents? • What would it take for you to support this? • What are your concerns?
- What specific, constructive, alternatives can you recommend?

For yourself.

- What are we trying to accomplish?
- What are the long-range interests of the community?
- Often you must balance multiple views, neither favoring nor ignoring one individual or group over another. Your obligation is to represent a broad-based view of the community's long-range interests.

- Remember that your Board or Commission exists to take action.
- Endeavor to end meetings at a reasonable hour. Short breaks may be helpful during long meetings. Extending the meeting beyond an appointed hour may be subjected to a vote when that hour nears.

Role of Chair

The Chair shall preserve order and decorum at all meetings, announce the Board or Commission decisions, and decide questions of order. The Chair is responsible for ensuring the effectiveness of the group process. A good Chair balances moving the discussion forward with involving all of the Board or Commission members and allowing for adequate public participation. In the absence of the Chair, the Vice Chair shall act as presiding officer.

Responsibilities of Chair

- Ensure that the public understands the nature of the issue being discussed (for example, reason for discussion, process to be followed, opportunities for public input, timeline for decision).
- Keep discussion focused on the issue at hand.
- Solicit opinions from Board or Commission members. Encourage evaluation of new, tentative, or incomplete ideas. Discourage overly dominant Board or Commission members from having disproportionate control over the discussion.
- Protect Board or Commission members, staff, and the public from personal attacks.
- For major items, delay analysis and action until the full range of alternatives is on the table.
- Attempt to reach decisions expeditiously on action items. At those times when action would be premature, guide discussion toward a timeline or framework for responsible action.

Preparing Motions

Boards and Commission meetings usually are conducted according to parliamentary procedure. The Chair directs the meeting, and his/her rulings must be followed unless they are overruled by the body.

When a member wishes to propose an action on a particular item on the posted agenda for the Boards and Commissions to consider, the member makes a motion. A motion goes through the following steps:

1. The member asks to be recognized by the Chair.

2. After being recognized the member makes the motion: "I move that we..."
3. Another member seconds the motion: "I second the motion. "
4. The Chair restates the motion and asks for discussion on the motion.
5. When the Chair determines that there has been enough discussion, the debate may be closed with: "Is there any further discussion?" or a member may state, "I call the question."
6. If no one asks for permission to speak, the Chair then puts the question to a vote: "All those in favor say aye. All those opposed say nay. "The Chair should restate the motion prior to the vote to ensure the motion is clearly understood by all. Any member may request a roll call vote on a motion.
7. After the vote, the Chair announces the decision: "The motion carries unanimously," "The motion carries four to three (list individually if requested)," or "The motion has failed."

Properly phrasing a motion can be difficult and corrections may be necessary before it is acted upon. Until the Chair states the motion, the member making the motion may rephrase or withdraw it. Only motions that are voted on will appear in the minutes.

Members may wish to write out difficult motions.

It is best to avoid including more than one proposal in the same motion. This is especially important when Boards and Commissions members are likely to disagree.

Any member may ask the chair to divide a motion. If others do not object, the chair may proceed to treat each proposal as a separate motion.

Boards and Commissions Role and Relationships

Council—Boards and Commission Relationship

The primary purpose of all Boards and Commissions is to provide judicious advice to the City Council, the elected policy-making body of the City. The Boards and Commission's role can include hearing public testimony on the Council's behalf, building community consensus for proposals or projects, reviewing written material, facilitating study of critical issues, guiding the implementation of new or regulating established programs, assessing the alternatives regarding issues of community concern, and ultimately forwarding recommendations to the Council for consideration. There are times when the Boards or Commission recommendation will not be sustained or will be modified by the City Council. It is important to recognize this not as a rejection of the integrity of the recommendation, but as an inevitable part of the process of community decision-making.

Throughout this process, the form and formality of the relationship between Boards and Commission members and Council members will vary. Some Boards and Commissions members will have regular contact with individual Council members, while others may serve solely in the group context. This relationship will depend on your Boards and Commissions as much as on you and the Council. For example, there are times when the Chair may address the Council formally on behalf of the Boards and Commissions, and other times when a Boards and Commissions member may meet with a Council member individually. At all times it is important to aim for clarity and mutual respect for the different responsibilities and roles.

Staff—Boards and Commission Relationship

Both Boards and Commissions and staff are motivated by the shared goal of furthering the City's best interests. Yet while the goal is shared, there are times when the approach and responsibility toward implementing the goal are significantly different. Some things that one body can do, the other cannot. Sometimes staff may wish to accomplish a specific goal, but due to the constraints of their employment, they may not readily be able to advance their ideas. Likewise, the Boards and Commissions recognize their obligations to fulfill larger objectives that staff, in their demanding workloads, may sometimes overlook. Because the distinctions in responsibility are not always explicit, cultivating a balanced understanding of your role is essential. The interaction need never be adversarial, but rather can promote respect for different perspectives, and an appreciation for each other's strengths.

Staff Responsibilities

Important staff responsibilities include:

- Being informed about the latest developments in their field.
- Providing background and expressing views to the Boards and Commissions on important issues.
- Providing administrative support, including agenda preparation and taking of minutes at meetings.
- Maintaining a professional position on all topics.
- Assisting the Boards and Commissions to stay on track and focused.
- Interpreting City Council, City department, and relevant state, federal, and international actions and policies.
- Making sure the intent of the Board or Commission is not lost after a decision.
- Developing a rapport with the Chair and Board and/or Commission members.
- Alerting Board or Commission members of possible detrimental actions.
- Presenting Board or Commission recommendations to the City Council.

In the event that the recommendation of staff and the recommendation of the Board or Commission differ regarding a given issue, both recommendations should be presented to the City Council. Staff will consult with the Boards and Commissions on how to handle presentation of the alternatives to the Council. The format may vary. For example, both staff and the Boards and Commissions can each present a report. Or, staff can present both alternatives, with the Boards and Commissions Chair or chosen member delegate present to answer Council's questions. When there is a significant minority opinion, it can also be brought to the attention of the Council, either as a separate report, or as testimony from a Boards and Commissions member. Regardless of the approach chosen, every effort should be made by staff to include the approved Boards and Commissions minutes of the relevant meeting(s) as part of the Council agenda report.

Additionally, the agenda report shall include a section called analysis, which may include partially or wholly, the pros, cons, and foreseeable consequences of the recommendation(s), if any. In the event that staff and the Boards and Commissions disagree, an analysis of both recommendations shall be included.

Regardless of the approach chosen, every effort should be made by staff to include the approved Boards and Commissions minutes of the relevant meeting(s) as part of the Council agenda report.

City Clerk

The City Clerk's Office accepts and maintains applications, processes appointments, updates membership rosters, bylaws, and informational booklets. The City Clerk is the filing officer for Statements of Economic Interests, and any other required filings as identified by the City Council and by the State.

City Attorney

The City Attorney is a resource for understanding compliance with the Code of Virginia, for agenda legality issues, meeting process questions, and conflict of interest determinations.

Legal Matters

Public Meetings

City of Waynesboro Boards and Commissions are subject to State law governing open meetings and records. The general intent is that Boards and Commissions act openly and that their records be open to the public. Exemptions may exist and each body should orient new members on what, if any, exemptions exist for their meetings and records.

Two types of meetings exist: regular meetings and special meetings. Regular meetings are held at the time and place specified in the bylaws or are meetings which have been "adjourned to" and are referred to as adjourned regular meetings. Special meetings may be held at a different time or place to discuss issues that cannot be accommodated on regular meeting agendas but must still comply with notice requirements. Boards and Commissions staff is responsible for identifying the type of meeting and posting all notices, including the agenda and notice of adjournment.

Regular Meetings

The Code of Virginia requires each legislative body to set the time for regular meetings by ordinance, resolution, bylaws, or whatever specifies the conduct of that body's business. Traditionally, this has been the bylaws of the legislative bodies. City Council approves all changes in bylaws, including the change of scheduled meeting dates and times.

A "meeting" is considered to take place any time that a quorum of the Boards and Commissions gathers to discuss that body's business; the Code of Virginia prohibits a quorum from meeting privately. To this end, the Code of Virginia specifically prohibits "any use of direct communication, personal intermediaries or technological devices..., employed by a majority of the members of the legislative body to develop a collective concurrence as to action to be taken on an item by the members of the legislative body." Hence the prohibition extends not only to personal contacts of the Boards and Commissions members among themselves outside the public meeting context, but also prohibits meetings whereby information is exchanged among a quorum of Boards and Commissions members whether or not simultaneously in one another's presence.

E-mail Communication Between Members

Because e-mail communications can ultimately lead to the exchange of information intended to, or which may, create collective concurrence among a quorum of Boards and Commissions members, e-mail communications between Boards and Commissions members relative to Boards and Commissions business should be avoided.

Continuance

A legislative body may continue any regular or special meeting to a time and place specified in the continuance notice. A copy of the continuance notice shall be conspicuously posted on or near the door where the meeting was held within twenty-four (24) hours after the time of continuance. If the matter is continued to a time less than twenty-four (24) hours after the meeting, a copy of the continuance notice shall be posted immediately following the meeting that was continued.

Conflict of Interest

The City of Waynesboro adheres to the Virginia Conflict of Interest Code, which states that no person shall make or participate in a governmental decision which he or she knows or has reason to know will have a reasonably foreseeable material financial effect distinguishable from its effect on the public generally.

The City Attorney is available to help Board and Commission members decide if they should declare a disqualification on any issue. There may be instances where financial conflict of interest is not the issue, and again, the City Attorney will provide guidance in determining whether a member should disqualify him/herself from acting on the item. In these instances, members should recuse themselves from a vote using the phrase, "...to avoid the appearance of impropriety."

Communications with the Public Outside of Meetings

Members of those Boards or Commissions which act in quasi-judicial capacity (i.e., review permit applications or hear appeals) may be prohibited from communicating about certain agenda items with members of the public outside of public meetings. Members of these Boards and Commissions should consult their respective Boards and Commissions bylaws to ascertain whether such a prohibition exists.

Freedom of Information Act (FOIA):

The Virginia Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) sets forth the procedures that a public body must follow in conducting an open meeting and convening in a closed meeting. The attached outline breaks down the procedural requirements, such as what is required in a notice and certifying a closed meeting, and provides practical advice for conducting meetings that comply with FOIA.
